Windows can be an exceptionally interesting platform if you use it as a potential source of inspiration for new ideas and innovations. In this way, Windows is always evolving, and the next version is always a great opportunity to change the whole design in the desktop. That is why we often see nice new features added to Windows. For example, when Windows 10 was launched in July 2015, it came with some nice new features, which have now become popular among Windows users. In fact, several of them were included in Windows 8. However, the one we'd like to talk about today is not new, but it's been there for years. Yes, for years, we're referring to the so-called 'Show desktop icon in the taskbar', which is also known as the 'show desktop' option. Many people may not have even thought about it, because it's just a normal icon, placed in the taskbar area at the bottom of the desktop. However, this icon was moved from the left side to the bottom in Windows 10. It was just one of the many useful tweaks that users get in this new version of Windows. Windows 10 desktop In this article, we'll show you how to make your desktop look exactly like the one above. The good news is that it's not a rocket science. This tutorial will explain everything in detail, step by step. 1. Move the show desktop icon to the left side The first thing you have to do to make your desktop look like the one above is to drag the show desktop icon to the left side of the taskbar. 2. Close all the windows in the taskbar You need to make sure that the taskbar is completely empty. Because you will only see the show desktop icon once you close all the windows. 3. Resize the desktop background image In Windows 10, when you resize the background image, the taskbar will automatically stay at the same position and size. 4. Add the show desktop icon You can now add the show desktop icon. You will find it at the bottom right corner of the taskbar.
